

This is proof positive that you can do hardware fast — if the job is simple! We received this new Sony 1” tape recorder with RS-422 inputs. We had no way to drive it, so I sat down and did this whole design in about an hour+ — that is, from idea to working prototype (courtesy of the semi-automatic wirewrap machine). As I recall, I stole the power from the Sony connector.

